
Press

Overview A unique assortment of newspapers, magazines and periodicals in different languages (ranging from general to specialized) is available in Egypt, including national and foreign newspapers as well as business magazines. Official and non-official newspapers are distributed to the majority of the people. Foreign and local newspapers and magazines are accessible either through the internet (where one can read them for free), on stands of various shops found across the country, or in libraries located in various areas.

Official / Non-Official Newspapers - Egypt has three main official Arabic daily newspapers, in addition to non-official newspapers representing the opposition.
